SUSTAINABILITY

Reunion Coffee Roasters already pays far above average for the coffee they import because of its premium quality. However, paying a fair price to farmers is only the beginning. They have also taken an aggressive approach in supporting sustainable development in the coffee industry by offering coffees that have been certified under the programs outlined below.

THE RAINFORREST ALLIANCE

According to rainforestalliance.org, their mandate is "to protect ecosystems and the people and wildlife that depend on them by transforming land-use practices, business practices and consumer behavior. Companies and cooperatives that participate in our programs meet rigorous standards that conserve biodiversity and provide sustainable livelihoods."

FAIR TRADE™ CERTIFIED

fairtrade.net explains their philosophy as an organization, "Fair Trade is an international system of doing business based on dialogue, transparency and respect. It contributes to sustainable development by offering better trading conditions for producers and workers in developing countries. Behind the principles and goals of Fair Trade is a rigorous international system of monitoring, auditing and certification."

CANADA ORGANIC

For a coffee to be certified organic, it must be grown in a manner that excludes the use of fertilizers, pesticides, hormone treatments or steroids. Organic farmers instead must rely on superior growing practices, natural fertilizers and alternative methods of pest and disease control.

BULLFROG POWERED™

Bullfrog Power is committed to increasing the amount of green power on our regional electricity grid systems by developing new renewable generation facilities. Several new turbines have been commissioned to meet the needs of bullfrogpowered homes and businesses.

Corporation

B-CORP CERTIFIED

We are a proud B Corp Certified Company, weighing the social, environmental and economic impacts of all of our activities, from the way we source our coffee to the way we operate our business at home. Being a B Corp provides us with a framework to ensure that we are operating in a way that will sustain our business while helping the producers we work with, our employees, and our community sustain themselves.

Please visit reunioncoffeeroasters.com for updates on our sustainability programs and a complete list of our products and services.
